Dear Prof Radu

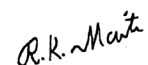

As we know, 21st century has witnessed diverse ecological imbalances and environmental insecurity and thus these burgeoning issues are of great concerns to the scientific communities Worldwide. In this context, our International Journal of Bio-resource and Stress Management (IJBSM), a quarterly international journal focuses widely on bio-resources viz. plants, animals, fisheries and other flora and fauna on earth, and their management. It addresses the issues on stress management related to these bio-resources viz. climate change; soil, water, forest, environmental as well as atmospheric crisis; population pressure; nutrient deficiency; etc all of which put our mother earth and thereby its inhabitants in extremely vulnerable position. The journal also focusses on the technological development in agriculture, its lab to land programme and its impact on socio-economic societies.

We invite your valuable significant contribution and guidance as a Editor. Hope you will happily accept our invitation to give momentum of our journal.
